

Diagnostic excellence for correctional facilities

Manage inmate health with confidence

Every day across the US, correctional facilities work to ensure the health of their incarcerated populations. Most often, the complex challenges of this responsibility are further complicated by limited resources.

The key to sustained (and sustainable) success is finding the right strategic relationships—strong, capable, experienced partners who understand your work and share your commitment.

It's why correctional facilities of all types across the US trust their diagnostic services to Quest. We provide our quality testing, medical expertise, and responsive support to some of the nation's largest institutions.

Quality diagnostic testing

From routine diagnostics to specialty testing, we maintain the highest standards to preserve specimen integrity and ensure accurate results.

Cost management

By emphasizing test utilization efficiency and strategic logistics, Quest drives value to help you make the most of your time and budget resources.

Access to expertise and industry-leading support

Quest provides on-staff clinical experts in drug monitoring, infectious disease, women's health, and more to assist with all of your diagnostic needs.
