Quantum EHR • Advantages

Enjoy enhanced connectivity

Send patient information using industry-standard formats, accept information from other providers, and access extensive patient lab histories to help optimize care. With access to more than 470,000 clinicians in over 140,000 locations, the Quest Diagnostics network is the recognized standard for fast, efficient, and powerful healthcare connectivity.

Experience secure mobile access

Access critical clinical information outside of your office. Our cloud-based platform, along with our iPhone®, iPad®, and Android applications, untether physicians from a physical location. House calls and facility visits don't require redundant data-entry. Whether at home, at a coffee shop, or in response to an emergency call, physicians, and other clinicians can securely access and act on patient information from virtually anywhere.

Enhance patient communications

Connect with your patients using the Quest Diagnostics MyQuest™ patient portal. Securely send messages regarding lab results, treatment plans, follow-up testing, medications, and more. Allow patients to view and share their health information while satisfying the Center for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) reporting requirements.

Support practice workflow

Efficiently manage your practice with an electronic system that adapts to your unique environment. Experience intuitive user interfaces that help you transition your clinical workflows seamlessly, accurately, and securely.

Proactively improve quality

Quantum EHR allows for tracking and benchmarking of clinical quality measures and access to real-time scorecards that help evaluate and identify improvement opportunities.

Meet CMS requirements

Quantum EHR is fully certified based on 2015 Edition Certification and the associated CMS regulatory requirements.

"One factor that influenced our doctors to choose Quantum EHR was that Quest Diagnostics was behind it. It's available online from anywhere. I can check prior lab results, MRIs, or my notes and make clinical decisions very fast."
