Easy-to-use rapid oral fluid test that delivers fast, accurate results anytime and anywhere

We are proud to offer OralTox®, an instant oral fluid testing device manufactured by Premier Biotech, as part of our broad portfolio of workplace drug testing services. OralTox is an FDA 510(k)-listed product with the ability to screen for six drugs: amphetamines, cocaine, marijuana, methamphetamine, opiates, and PCP. This patented device identifies the absence of illicit drugs in minutes and a result can be read as soon as a test and control line appears on any strip (often within two minutes).

Oral fluid drug testing offers a minimally-invasive, observed collection to detect recent drug use. Using oral fluid, an employer can oversee the collection, reducing the likelihood of tampering or cheating, as well as a donor challenge later in the drug testing process. When speed is a high priority, OralTox offers flexibility for hiring events, job fairs, and on-site collections.

Designed for speed and reliability

OralTox features a built-in saturation indicator that changes color when the appropriate specimen amount has been collected. This mechanism eliminates the guesswork in the collection process and helps to reduce recollections stemming from an insufficient oral fluid sample. OralTox online training details testing procedures and helps to ensure employers and collectors are familiar with the device itself.

The design of OralTox helps to ensure a flawless, accurate collection. Negative test results can be read as soon as the test and control line appear on any strip, typically within minutes of the collection. At ten minutes, the collector can interpret the OralTox drug test as negative, presumptive positive, or invalid.

Interpret results in minutes
Steps to a successful OralTox drug test

1 Collection
The donor inserts the OralTox collection pad in their mouth and swabs until the pad is fully saturated. The saturation indicator strip will appear once the proper specimen amount is collected.

2 Test
Insert the OralTox collection device into the base with the swab facing down. Press and twist the OralTox collector in a clockwise motion until the collection device is locked into place.

3 Results
Within minutes of activating the test, results can be read using the test and control lines on the OralTox strips. If the results are non-negative, follow the laboratory confirmation procedures outlined in your company’s drug testing policy.
